For our global client Jaguar Land Rover we are looking for a Junior Editor with first working experience in the lifestyle or automotive sector.

Your Job Description

- Research, development, writing and editing of lifestyle content for print & digital media
- Preparation and delivery of content according to client standards
- Your work may require you to travel regularly
- The role involves a large amount of hands-on writing and editing of stories and related content

What we are looking for

- First experience from working as a journalist, in communications, corporate publishing, content marketing or PR
- Excellent communication skills, written and spoken
- High level of English proficiency a must
- First experience with concept and story development for traditional and/or digital media
- Good grip of both digital and analogue media trends, from print to mobile
- Experience with document creation: Powerpoint, Excel, timelines, content plans, briefings, etc.
- Experience with Photoshop, InDesign, Photo editing etc. a big plus
- Agency experience / content marketing expertise an advantage

We are looking for an individual who is reliable, organized, outgoing, communicative, motivated, eager and willing to learn and able to work to deadlines. We offer a dynamic and creative work environment where the focus lies on quality journalistic work and with room for personal expression and development. The role offers a great degree of individual freedom to work with ideas and concepts, and is an excellent opportunity for anyone with a passion for storytelling, editorial direction and creative writing.

We look forward to receiving your application:
